Norman Hay plc invests in new Coventry head office

11 April 2016

Coventry-based chemicals, sealants, surface coatings and engineering group, Norman Hay plc, has invested a six-figure sum to move to a new head office at Lyons Park, Coventry.

The purpose-built head office, located on the site of the former Jaguar Browns Lane facility, will provide a contemporary new space to meet the modern requirements of Norman Hay plc, having outgrown the Group's current Godiva Place site.

Vic Bellanti, Chief Executive, Norman Hay plc, said: "Our move to a new site on Lyons Park marks an exciting new chapter for Norman Hay plc. Godiva Place has been the location of our head office for more than 25 years but the business has now outgrown the site. Lyons Park maintains our footprint in Coventry but provides us with the space to continue growing the business.

"The new head office will accommodate a modern laboratory, suite of offices and ample space for our manufacturing teams, all set within a contemporary environment."

Norman Hay plc's Godiva Place site has been sold to developers, Regents Godiva plc, who have plans approved to build high quality student accommodation on the site.

It is expected that Norman Hay plc will have completed the move to its new Lyons Park head office by 1st July 2016.
